

LARRY SCOTT TRAIL PROJECT MP 4.0 TO MP 5.6

Visitors enjoy the newest section of the Larry Scott Trail.

Jefferson County Public Works has constructed the newest section of the Larry Scott Trail, adding over one mile of trail to the 4.4 trail miles already built. The new trail section extends southward along S. Edwards Rd beginning at milepost (MP) 4.0 and joins existing trail that extends from MP 4.4 to MP 4.8. From MP 4.8, newly constructed trail continues to MP 5.6. Shold Construction, Inc. of Port Hadlock cleared, graded and graveled 6,500 linear feet of new trail, constructed rock walls where required, and installed rail fencing and timber bollards. County forces completed the project with planting and signage installation.

The new trail section can be accessed via the Cape George Rd trailhead. Trail users are reminded to respect private property. Visitors should only use public access to the trail, and remember to stay on the trail. Private roads should not be used for trail access.

This project was funded by grant funds issued to the Larry Scott Trail Project in 2009 from the State Recreation and Conservation Office's (RCO) Washington Wildlife and Recreation Program (WWRP) and by local funds, in a 50/50 match. Total project costs were $280,000.

With this segment completed, Public Works will prepare for the next trail development project as funds allow. Thanks to the 2009 grant from RCO and Federal Enhancement Grant funds, trail right-of-way has been acquired from the trail's intersection with S. Discovery Rd to its terminus near Milo Curry Rd. When complete, the non-motorized Larry Scott Trail will extend eight miles from the City of Port Townsend to the Four Corners area.

This steep slope along trail right-of-way was graded and a rock retaining wall constructed...

...to allow ample, accessible space for trail users.

EXPERIENCE THE TRAIL

About 6 miles of the Larry Scott Trail is constructed and open for use. Jefferson County Public Works is working to complete the original eight-mile vision of the Trail that will extend to the Four Corners area (near Four Corners Road and State Route 20). The community hopes the Larry Scott Trail will one day connect to the Olympic Discovery Trail and traverse the entire Olympic Peninsula.

The Larry Scott Trail is the result of many individuals, local companies, government agencies and community groups working together to create a shared dream.

ABOUT LARRY SCOTT

Larry Scott left an indelible impression on Jefferson County, a legacy that will benefit county residents for generations to come. He worked to create parks and preserve environmentally sensitive land, first as an interested citizen and later as chair of the Jefferson County Parks Advisory Board.

As a bicycling enthusiast and Advisory Board Chair, Larry began the search for trail funding. Around this time, he, his wife Judy and a small group of dedicated bicyclists met every Sunday for recreational riding throughout the Olympic Peninsula. Larry died unexpectedly in 1991, but the momentum of his dream of a multi-use trail grew into a tangible goal for an entire community.

The Larry Scott Memorial Trail commemorates Larry Scott's commitment and dedication to conservation and outdoor recreation.
